

Preface

Nataliia Gorbunova<sup>1*</sup>

<sup>1</sup> V.I. Vernadsky Crimean Federal University, Simferopol, Russia

The international scientific and practical conference “Professionalism of a Teacher: Psychological and Pedagogical Support for a Successful Career” was held in Yalta, Russia, from May 05 to 07, 2021.

The conference “Professionalism of a Teacher: Psychological and Pedagogical Support for a Successful Career” is organized by the Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Professional Education “V.I. Vernadsky Crimean Federal University”; Russian Academy of Education, Crimean Regional Centre of the Russian Academy of Education.

The conference provides leading scientists, teachers, all participants in the educational sphere from different countries with the opportunity to summarize and share innovative and relevant scientific concepts and developments in the field of professionalization, organization of the educational process, introduction of innovative methods and technologies to the field of higher professional psychological and pedagogical education, creation of innovative educational environment, models of training and retraining of a modern teacher, psychological and pedagogical organization of the educational process. In addition, the purpose of the conference is to create a communication platform for scientific discussion and exchange of experience on topical issues of development of higher education, professional training of future specialists, professional and personal development of teachers and formation of a teacher’s health culture.

Proceedings of the conference “Professionalism of a Teacher: Psychological and Pedagogical Support for a Successful Career ” cover the following topics: problems and prospects of higher psychological and pedagogical education; psychological and pedagogical support of personality professional development in the Humanities; psychologists’ professionalism: priority development fields and current challenges; education managers’ professional success: psychological and pedagogical criteria and determiners; career stages: from students to highly-skilled teachers; future specialists’ practice-oriented training in the field of preschool and primary general education; teachers’ health culture (personal and professional aspects); specialist training and adaptation for an inclusive educational environment; psychological and pedagogical aspects of distance learning in specialists’ professional training under the digital economy conditions; topical issues of training art specialists.

Since the development of science and education is important and especially important during the modernization of education, the introduction of new technologies in the educational process, which is reflected in the problems with personal international communication.

The conference model included a plenary session and the work of sections. Sixteen presentations were presented at the plenary session in intramural and distance forms, all presentations were conducted in accordance with the conference sections, each author was allotted from 10 to 15 minutes for his report and 5 minutes for answering questions from other participants. At the end of the conference there was time for general discussion and consideration of poster presentations of participants who could not personally present video reports.

---

* Corresponding author: prof-ped.gpa@mail.ru

A total of 9 countries were involved at the conference “Professionalism of a Teacher: Psychological and Pedagogical Support for a Successful Career”. 300 authors of papers representing Russia, Belarus, Bulgaria, Armenia, Greece, Germany, Israel, Turkey, Kazakhstan presented documents. The conference program, video recording, presentation of reports are available on the conference website.

The conference format (mixed format – online and offline) did not interfere with the authors’ active participation in scientific discussions, establishment of new contacts and experience sharing. Professors, researchers, post graduate students from different countries and organizations showed great interest and took an active part in the conference. We look forward to further face-to-face meetings and personal reports from our fellow researchers at the next conference on teacher professionalism.

The editorial board thanks the international scientific committee and the reviewers for their great contribution to the work and organization of the conference. After the expert evaluation based on originality and relevance, the best articles were selected for publication based on the proceedings of the conference.

The Organizing Committee expresses its deep gratitude to all the participants of the conference who presented the results of their research.

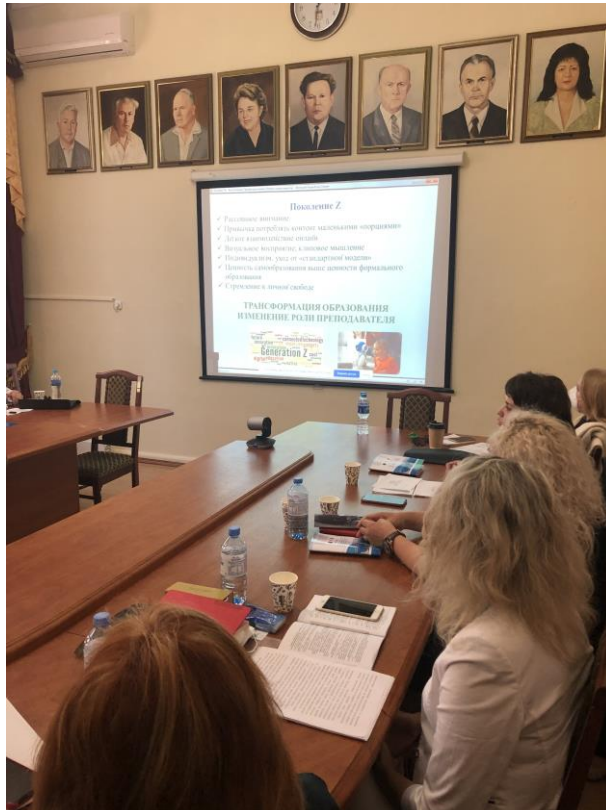

Prof., Conference Chair, Nataliia Gorbunova,
V.I. Vernadsky Crimean Federal University, Russia

Fig. 1. Nataliia Gorbunova, Prof., Conference Chair, V.I. Vernadsky Crimean Federal University, Russia.

Fig. 2. Conference foto - conference participants.

Fig. 3. Conference foto - conference participants.

Fig. 4. Conference foto - -- online reports of conference participants.