

Preface

We are pleased to present this volume of scholastic articles from the Annual Conference on Education and Social Sciences: Technological innovation and adaptation on education and social sciences in society 5.0 (ACcESS 2022). The conference was held at the University of Mataram in Lombok, Indonesia, on the 27th and 28th of October 2022. Researchers, students, and professionals from five different nations participated in ACcESS 2022 together.

The purpose of the conference was to present the most recent research advances, share expert knowledge, and facilitate the exchange of ideas, as well as to identify trends in education and the social sciences and to contribute to research on technological innovation and field adaptation.

Conference sections:

Section 1. Advances in Education

Section 2. Learning Media and Digitalization

Section 3. Language and Society

Section 4. Current Trends in Social Sciences

The conference received a total of more than 70 manuscripts, of which our reviewers, who are specialists in the fields of education and the social sciences, accepted 32 of the submissions for presentation at the conference. Before being chosen for publishing, full papers that were presented at the conference were subjected to single blind peer assessment by at least two per manuscript.

We would like to take this opportunity to offer our sincere gratitude to the organisers, members of the organising committee, and reviewers of the ACcESS 2022 conference for all of the effort that they have put in. We look forward to seeing you at our next conference.

Santi Farmasari – Chief Editor
University of Mataram, Lombok, Indonesia