

Preface

As an important public cultural service, public art is to meet people's needs for a better life, and is ushering in a period of great development. Besides, its existence reflects the needs of social development in the field of art and culture. We are honored to have convened the 2023 3rd International Conference on Public Art and Human Development (ICPAHD 2023) during December 22nd to 24th, 2023 in Tianjin, China (hybrid event). Through this platform, we hope to strengthen international cooperation and understanding, and promote the international development of academic research.

This Conference focused on such topics related to public art and human development as Architectural and Environmental Design, Spatial Form Design, Cultural Inheritance and Development, Human History, Mental Health, Changes in Public Governance, etc. We invited renowned scholars and experts from around the world to serve as keynote speakers, who shared their latest research results, practical experience and future directions in related domains. These thematic reports provided participants with comprehensive and in-depth understanding and insight, stimulating thinking and innovation.

Apart from the keynote speeches, we also held a series of oral and poster presentations. These presentations covered different aspects of public art and human development, presenting the results and findings of the delegates in their research and practice. Scholars who participated in oral presentations and poster presentations had in-depth exchanges with other participants, sharing experiences and insights, and jointly exploring cutting-edge issues in relevant disciplines.

In addition, we have carefully selected and prepared a collection of Proceedings based on this Conference, which represents a bunch of excellent papers, covering the latest research results and innovative ideas in related areas. This Proceedings will be an important reference for the academic community, providing researchers with opportunities for in-depth research, and will also inject new vitality and impetus into the development and innovation in the fields of and related to public art and human development.

Finally, we would like to express our sincere thanks to all for their support and participation in the Conference. We believe that through the exchange and cooperation of this Conference, we will jointly create a new future in the fields of public art and human development. We also believe that the publication of this collection of Proceedings will make a positive contribution to the development of the academic community and the progress of public art and human development!
